Anthropic Reveals Potential AI Job Disruption vs. Real AI Use

Least exposed AI jobs:

- Cooks
- Mechanics
- Lifeguards
- Bartenders
- Dishwashers
- Hospitality

Key Findings

- Blue = Theoretical AI coverage across ALL occupations
- Red = Observed AI use — only in knowledge work
- 57–75% of tasks automated in law, finance, coding
- Cooks, mechanics, electricians largely untouched
- A 5–10 year crossing window — act now

"AI has arrived first and hardest for the educated professional class. Physical trade workers remain protected — for now."

THE CRISIS: AI IS EATING THE MIDDLE

THE GIG TRAP

- ✗ Mercor, Scale AI, Surge AI recruit PhDs & lawyers to train AI
- ✗ NDAs so strict workers can't tell colleagues what they're doing
- ✗ Monitored keystroke-by-keystroke; projects end without warning
- ✗ No benefits, no overtime, no unemployment rights
- ✗ "My job is gone because of ChatGPT, and I was invited to train the model to do the worst version of it."

THE BARISTA ENDING

A displaced content marketer decides working as a barista is more stable than training the AI that replaced her.

Two bad options on the table:

- Gig work that extracts expertise with no future
- Service work — a dramatic downgrade from education

The current system offers no third path. She swallowed her hatred and signed up.

THE EON ALTERNATIVE

EON offers a third option:

- Not a downgrade — not a grave-digging gig
- A pathway that honors what professionals already know
- Equips them with what they need next
- Structural tools to build economic sovereignty
- Through proprietorship, VAR network & marketplace

EON is not a solution for when AI wins.
EON is what makes the transition human.
